DARE TO BE DIFFERENT

Whatever your requirements for sign or display solutions in your company, Scorpio Signs are keen to work with you to achieve the most cost effective, aesthetically pleasing solution to your signage needs. In this fast moving world characterised by a multitude of brands and mixed media, businesses need to ensure that they send out precisely the right message to visitors and passers by that correctly identifies who they are and what they stand for. Equally they need to ensure that the messages they display are clear, coherent and concise. With over 25 years of experience in the sign business the Scorpio Signs team are ready and willing to assist you in your next sign project. Be it a complete signing solution for new buildings, a modernisation or makeover, a re-branding exercise or an internal or external wayfinding solution, we would be more than happy to help.

These are arguably some of the biggest signs you have on your site. When deciding on position and size you need to consider the distance the signs need to be read from. The required reading distance will then determine the letter size and consequently the overall sign size. Please ask for advice. Also do consider whether the signs need to be raised up to be seen over a fence or hedge line. Beware when surveying in winter of any trees that, come the summer, in full bloom, may obscure your beautiful sign.

Architectural letters and logos are individual, stand-alone elements attached to the elevation of a building. Strictly speaking they would not have a background (other than the building itself) or panel but we have included all 3D (three dimensional) lettering in this category. They are so called because they add to the architectural characteristics of the building as opposed to panel signs that tend to disfigure or obliterate parts of the building if sized or sighted insensitively.

wayfinding external signs

Perhaps one of the greatest discourtesies we can pay visitors to our site is assuming that they will find their way around sooner or later. Visitors need clear, unambiguous clues to get them from their point of entry on our site to wherever they wish to end up. Way finding signage is a mixture of science, art and good old common sense. We like to think that we blend these ingredients together to give our clients the most effective and user friendly scheme for their site.

Once a visitor enters our buildings we need to ensure that they successfully reach their intended destination with as little fuss and confusion as possible. Difficult enough in a complex layout of corridors and access routes but even in a small building once a visitor comes across a choice of route, this way or that way, the need for clear ambiguous directions are paramount. If you have a way finding issue in your building then we would very much welcome the opportunity to work with you to solve it.

Modern architectural techniques with their use of large areas of glass, give school rooms and entrances ample amounts of light. They also offer a blank canvas, which you can use to subtly display a message or theme. We offer a wide range of decorative window films that can add drama to your facade. From etched effects that afford a bit more privacy to a tinted frosted effect that does the same with a hint of colour. We can incorporate your words or logos into these films to further customise the appearance.
